

Winter Wildlife Tracking with Susan Morse and Keeping Track®

Date: Saturday, February 22, 2014

Join nationally known wildlife ecologist and tracker Susan Morse, and Stowe Land Trust, as we visit the conserved Crawford Property straddling the southwestern boundary between Stowe and Waterbury, Vermont. You will learn how to read evidence left behind by wildlife in the form of tracks and sign; scrapes, wallows, and marks on trees. Winter is a wonderful time to learn more about the animals that inhabit Stowe's woods. We will visit a variety of habitats and learn from Susan why certain types of habitats are so worthy of conservation. During the field outings we will move through the woods at a leisurely pace. Please dress warmly and bring a backpack to carry a hot beverage, snacks and extra layers of clothing. Depending on the weather, be sure to bring snowshoes or "creepers" for your boots, which have spikes to help with traction on icy surfaces.

There will be Two Sessions - Morning and Afternoon

Morning Field Outing: 9:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Special extended session for Pinnacle Society members

Afternoon Field Outing: 1:30 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. - This session is open to the public and free for Stowe Land Trust members. $20.00 fee for non-members.

Registration is required since space will be limited. To register, call (802)253-7221 or send an email to info@stowelandtrust.org.

For more information, and to become a member, please visit our website: www.stowelandtrust.org

Many thanks to the partners who made these wildlife tracking workshops possible!

Keeping Track, Inc
P. O. Box 444
Huntington, VT 05462
www.keepingtrack.org

All Photographs©Susan C. Morse

Stowe Land Trust
P.O. Box 284
Stowe, VT 05672

